Oilseeds: World Markets and Trade

U.S. Soybean Export Market Share is Poised to Fall

The U.S. share of global soybean exports is forecast to decline in the coming year. Lower forecast U.S. soybean plantings and harvest are expected to result in reduced exportable supplies. Smaller U.S. exports will face more competition from South America, which has record large supplies from successive bumper harvests and record carry-over stocks.

As U.S. exports fall, China will need to look towards South America and their record supplies to meet demand. The combination of lower U.S. exports and expanded trade from South America will mean less U.S. export share.

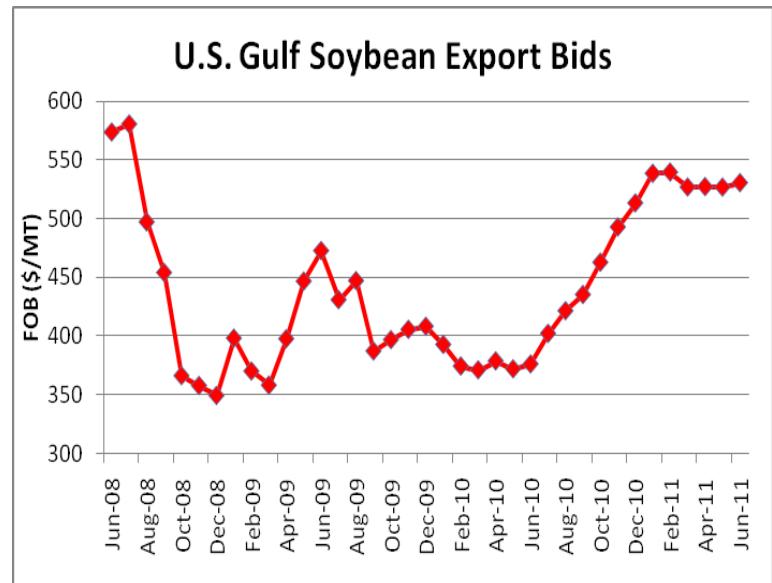

OVERVIEW

Global trade is cut this month, although it continues strong supported by demand in China and abundant exportable supplies in South America. Global production is forecast lower due to the reduced U.S. crop. Global demand for soybean oil and meal also remains strong. U.S. season average price, although eased, is still at a record.

SOYBEAN PRICES

U.S. export bids, FOB Gulf, in June averaged $530 per ton, about the same levels seen for the past months. Despite the slowing pace of shipments, the June bids are elevated supported by tight old-crop supplies.

As of the week-ending June 30, U.S. soybean commitments (outstanding sales plus accumulated exports) to China totaled 25.9 million tons, compared to 22.5 million a year ago. Total commitments to the world are 41.8 million tons compared to 39.5 million for the same period last year.

2011/12 TRADE OUTLOOK

- U.S. soybean exports are cut 0.7 million tons to 40.7 million on reduced crop prospects and expectations of intense competition this fall.
- China's soybean imports are cut 1.5 million tons to 56.5 million on expectations of a slowing pace of shipments early in the marketing year.
- Argentina's soybean exports are cut 0.5 million tons to 11.3 million due to reduced competitiveness.

TRADE CHANGES IN 2010/11

- U.S. soybean exports are cut 0.5 million tons to 41.4 million on continued slow shipments.
- Brazil's soybean exports are cut 1.0 million tons to 30.8 million, and Argentina's are cut 0.5 million tons to 8.5 million to reflect the slower shipment pace, particularly to China.
- China's soybean imports are slashed 2.0 million tons to 52.0 million as demand for crush remains slow and pipeline stocks are at high levels.
- EU soybean imports are down 0.2 million tons to 13.8 million due to the slower pace of imports.
- Thailand's soybean imports are up 0.2 million tons to 2.0 million supported by stronger demand for crush.
